The CD remains the only property of the manufacturer and is not to be used for any other purpose. Complete prohibition of robbery, and the use of his name.

Every copyist violates a prohibition. Every copyist who copies a CD without the permission of the manufacturer is liable for robbery. Every copyist who copies a CD without the permission of the manufacturer is liable for robbery. Every copyist who copies a CD without the permission of the manufacturer is liable for robbery.

For the stated payment the buyer has given the right to use it himself or to give it to others. If there is no such payment, the buyer has not given the right to use it himself or to give it to others. He can be sued in court, and anyone who buys a copy of a CD without the permission of the manufacturer is liable for robbery.
